STATE 4-H LEADERS HONORED

Four Gold Keys in recognition of 25 years of service to 4-H in the Cooperative Extension Service were awarded at the Annual Fellowship Dinner last night.

Those awarded keys were Gladys Oller, Associate State Club Leader, Wyoming; Leon Clayton, State 4-H Boys Club Agent, South Carolina; L. Isabel Myers, Assistant State Club Leader, Pennsylvania; and Paul L. Maloney, Agricultural Agent-at-Large, Nevada.

Five State leaders who have retired were honored with citations for 25 or more years of service. They were Albert Hoefer, New York; Lorenzo F. Kinney, Rhode Island; Henry A. Pflughoeft, Minnesota; Eva M. Kinsey, Ohio; and Horace Jones, Massachusetts.

DELEGATES NOTE FOR VISIT TO CAPITOL HILL

One boy and one girl from each State should go with Senate group this morning and one boy and one girl with the House group. The Senate group will go on Buses A, B, and C. The House group should board Buses D, E, and F.

PICK UP YOUR TICKETS FOR EMBASSY TOURS

This afternoon you will have an opportunity to visit an embassy of a foreign country. Of those embassies listed in the program, you can make your selection by picking up a ticket at the Headquarters Desk in the Departmental Auditorium this morning. Only a limited number may visit each embassy, so to make sure that you get your choice, you should pick up your tickets this morning. In the afternoon, you should board the bus according to the embassy you have selected.

WANTED

WANTED: A delegate, boy or girl, of Czech or Slovak parentage or ancestry for the interesting experience of being on a Voice of America broadcast. Please give the press desk in the Departmental Auditorium your name and home State as soon on Friday as possible.

PLEASE HELP

Busy, energetic Sam Orleans is a familiar figure around camp these days. He's taking pictures for the big National TV show in "Rural America Review." So be sure to cooperate fully if he takes you or your delegates for photographs. You'll be notified later what stations and when you can see yourself on TV.

TODAY YOU WILL SEE--

The Capitol--George Washington laid the cornerstone in 1793 but the building was not finished until 70 years later. The last item to be put on it was the 19½ foot bronze statue of Freedom on the dome. The Capitol is linked by underground tunnels with the House and Senate office buildings. The Senators even have their own private subway.

Embassies--Embassies serve to represent their respective countries in their relations with the United States. They serve as American headquarters for visitors to the U. S., just as U. S. embassies serve the United States visitors abroad. The land on which embassies are located actually belongs to the Nation it represents and the United States has no jurisdiction on the Embassy grounds.

PRESIDING OFFICERS

The Assemblies Committee under the direction of Miss Martha Leighton, New York, has been quite busy interviewing delegates to preside at the general assemblies and to carry out special responsibilities. Presiding delegates for programs through yesterday were as follows:

Wednesday night--Hugh McBride, California
Thursday morning--Roberta Snyder, New York
Thursday night--Larry Hobson, Idaho

OUTSTANDING EXHIBIT IN COMMERCE BUILDING

The Weather Bureau has an outstanding exhibit in the lobby of the Department of Commerce, according to Mylo Downey, Camp Coordinator. He suggests that if you have time you make a brief stop. Entrance to the building is on 14th Street between Constitution and Pennsylvania Avenues.
